The main reasons for exchange programme were personal development and to broaden the horizons and my world view. Certainly the exchange programme will improve my CV as well. I was also very much interested learn more about tourism industry as it is a growing industry, therefore my first choice was to study at HTW Chur.

What has impressed me most is that being a visiting student I could easily get integrated in many classes with less than 15 students especially the third semester tourism English class. On the other hand when I with a larger group I was just like a stranger.

The experience to study with different semester students was one of enriching experience I had at HTW Chur. It reminded me that in real life outside the university campus I will not be always surrounded by acquaintance but by most of the time strangers. The exchange programme has helped me improve my confidence level to deal with unwanted and unexpected situations more prudently, and also to deal with strangers and how to make them friends.

The experience I have gained from HTW Chur could be shared with other students and also discuss in the class what I have learned by studying tourism industry at HTW Chur. Thus my class mates will also profit from my exchange programme at the home university.

The support of the university staff especially International Office at HTW Chur and at home university was excellent. Whenever help was required I could approach them without hesitation and they were ready to help at any time.

I would love to do the exchange programme once again but to the other constrains it would not be possible for me. Of course I would recommend HTW Chur to my junior students who are planning for exchange semester next year.
